ECDworks
Managed solutions for early childhood development

Play is of fundamental importance for young children's health and well-being, their relationships, their development and their learning. Children develop holistically – mentally, physically, socially, emotionally and spiritually.

It is within the first seven years that the foundation is laid for success in formal schooling and lifelong learning.

ECDworks' quality learning resource materials are specifically selected to promote development of the whole child, supporting educators in creating a happy and stimulating environment for learning.

ECDworks offers 25 years experience in all facets of early childhood development.
